GRIT. GROWTH. GRAVITAS.

A LETTER FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

ISMUN has always been synonymous with a steadfast commitment to excellence and a drive to exceed expectations. It is a haven for ideas to collide, merge and metamorphose as they address issues born out of power and privilege.

As I see it, it is where ordinary high-school students are moulded into highly diplomatic, often sarcastic, intellectuals with broadened perspectives and a sense of global responsibility. But, what is the ISMUN to me?

It is where I started my journey of MUNs, four years ago. It is where I have seen the greatest verbal arsenals being forged, with enough firepower to tear down and create anew the strongest defenses. It is where the most hilarious tongue-in-cheek replies will earn you huge applause (I remember Israel refusing to acknowledge Palestine because they “might as well have been the delegate of Wakanda”; Israel went on to win Best Delegate).

I love the people who bring it together. I love the people who it brings together.

A result of the untiring efforts of the upcoming generation, it is undeniable proof that there is more hope for the future than we give it credit for.

This time, built upon a solid foundation of innumerable brainstorming sessions, creative epiphanies and collective all-nighters, ISMUN 2K22 proved to be the most dynamic and heart-racing event ever.

Each and every member of the committee was made to think and invest their energies in debating issues that were so much bigger than them. Their beliefs did stand shaken to the very core. They did discover a new version of themselves.

This ISMUN was for the brave of heart and spirit.

Everybody got to expand their repertoire of skills, opinions and absolute sass, and nobody left here empty-handed.

- Naavya Shetty
Secretary General

PRESS EDITOR'S ADDRESS

A writer will often paint a picture of their version of the truth. But, a reporter will always try to explore new angles, understand a myriad of perspectives and dig deep beneath the surface in order to capture the essence of their story. From being silent onlookers to keen observers; from just stringing words together to strategizing the use of every word and from being writers to being reporters- it is quite a journey. Watching each and every member in my team grow and submit beautiful pieces on the committee proceedings at ISMUN 2K22 has been a fulfilling and proud experience. As I see them coming out of their shells, expressing themselves and making their voice heard, I marvel at the role ISMUN has played in shaping their growth as reporters.

The reporters have worked relentlessly, hanging on to every detail, every word spoken, every speech given and every comment made by the delegates and the executive board members. Their commitment to the job and way with words are commendable.

To the readers, who give this newsletter a purpose and are looking to us to take you through the ISMUN experience, thank you for reading and enjoying our work. I am especially proud of the special issues on the first ever mascot designed for ISMUN, the UNSC-UNGA Plenary committee and the witty but captivating roasts column. Hope you enjoy our little additions and experiments to this year's press release.

Being the Press Head at ISMUN 2K22 has been an honour and I will always cherish these three days as one of my best MUN experiences.

Kudos!

UNGA

UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY

AGENDA: To address the alarming correlation between Food Security and Conflict and find effective solutions to eradicate this vicious cycle.

DIRECTOR: Rhesa Rony

ASST. DIRECTOR: Harsh Modi

MODERATOR: Mahek Mundhra

REPORTERS: Ananya Sanwal, Sanika Shetty

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Manya, Sharman

Ms. Prajakta Bhide, an assistant professor at Vivekanand Education Society of Arts, Science and Commerce opened up the session which stimulated a heated discussion about the relations between food and conflict and revealed the primary catalysts of food shortage. Further reflection led to the discussion of solutions, which involve improving international cooperation. The constructive discussion ended with a question that incited introspection within the delegates: is food aid a problem or solution?

Countries like Yemen, Angola, and South Sudan are suffering from food crisis, with the most concerning issue in the countries being the death of 10,000 children because of malnutrition. The delegates from the USA and China, among others, stated that their governments are interested in developing an international consensus to eradicate food insecurity.

The Russian delegate, seemingly articulating the lack of food due to the political tensions between Russia and Ukraine, rightly quoted, "When two elephants fight, it is the grass that is trampled."

UNSC

UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL

AGENDA : Violation of State Sovereignty by Member Nations

DIRECTOR: Satej Prabhughate

ASST. DIRECTOR: Garv Chaturvedi

MODERATORS: Tia Karkhanis

REPORTERS: Aparna Menon, Shruti Rane, Priyana Jain

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Shreshth, Kashish

The session commenced with the introduction of the esteemed guest Dr. Vaibhavi Palsule, Vice Principal and Head of Department, Political Science of Ruia College with 23 years of experience in teaching. The primary question addressed by her was the concept of sovereignty, its true nature, and its main purpose. With a topic that kept all the delegates on the edge of their seats, the session revolved around these questions with various references to historical events. It was an enriching session followed by nerve-wracking questions.

The General Speakers List kick-started the session whereby countries articulated their stance on the agenda - 'Violation of State sovereignty.' Russia and Ukraine formulated their sides vigorously. Ukraine accused Russia of stolen sovereignty, to which Russia retorted that minorities in Ukraine face peril. Directives of the debate kept speakers on their toes. Post debates, the session concluded with an unmoderated caucus.

SPECIAL ISSUE: UNSC AND UNGA PLENARY COMMITTEE

The UNGA and UNSC conciliated for a joint session on account of critical emergencies. According to Afghanistan and North Korea, Taiwan fell under the Chinese government and hence was not eligible to join NATO. Afghanistan dauntlessly asseverated NATO's activities of trying to conquer western Asia and now setting their eyes on eastern Asia.

The President of Taiwan claimed that China, who gave Ukraine permission to set up an embassy in Taipei, entirely ignored Taiwan's sovereignty, evincing China's claims over Taiwan are fabricated.

Meanwhile, the government of Taiwan was considered a terrorist organization by the government of China. In its defense, the USA inculpated China of increasing its military threats around Taiwan and said it was doing its sole purpose of "protecting Taiwan" by the provision of F22 jets.

UNEP

UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT PROGRAM

AGENDA: Discussing the necessity and efficacy of Green Hydrogen with reference to the COP26 declaration

DIRECTOR: Kapil Krishnan

ASST. DIRECTOR: Ashika Shetty

MODERATOR: Apurva Junnarkar

REPORTERS: Niharika Karnik, Drishikha Varma

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Prajana, Sarvesh

Dr. Lata Ghanshamani addressed the delegates of UNEP. She explained to the delegates the importance of "system thinking" with emphasis on collective participation and perspective to get the right solution. She enlightened the delegates about helping the underdeveloped and developing countries. "Don't create any solution without taking the repercussions under consideration, we are just focusing on predicting, proposing and discussing solutions."

"Educate citizens before implementing green hydrogen laws" was strongly stated by Germany. The current global environmental conditions were highlighted as a "code red" by the USA with imposing arguments. The importance of geographical location and climatic conditions in production of Green hydrogen was put forth by South Africa. Adverse effects of wars on the environment was a key topic discussed, which led to heated arguments amongst nations.

UNEP

“Wars are a result of failure of diplomacy” was the central theme discussed for solving the crisis of Iraq waging a nuclear war on Kuwait. Sovereignty and pride of Kuwait should not be compromised, even if it means further degradation of the environment, claimed North Korea.

The USA was attacked by several countries for being the instigator of most wars. A heated debate between South Africa and North Korea concerning the integrity and efficiency of diplomats in wars was the spotlight of the day.

The proceeding ended on a humorous note when the guest delegate of Iraq commented that the arguments by the USA are so irrelevant that it seemed as if they were shooting a “prank video.”

DISEC

DISARMAMENT AND INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

AGENDA: The role of private military and security companies in armed conflict

DIRECTOR: Dheer Doshi

ASST. DIRECTOR: Drishti Thakkar

MODERATOR: Paanini Vaidya

REPORTERS: Palak Sinha, Keerthi Ramasubramanian

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Eeshan, Priyanshi

Abhishek Kankan, the guest speaker for DISEC spoke about the increasing influence of military privatization in the modern world, done with the intention to continue anonymity and save assets. With the increasing conflicts between India and Pakistan regarding Kashmir and all other kinds of war be it on land, in air or in water, the guest speaker introduced the delegates to the elite fighting force: MARCOS who have conducted various missions in such wars, succeeding in 'choking up' the enemy and leading to our 'well deserved' win.

The session started with the delegates proposing points for the agenda 'Role of Private Military and Security Companies (PMSCs) in armed conflicts'. The EB started with questions, followed by the delegates getting into a 2v2 argument consisting of Israel and Japan against Palestine and Lebanon.

Questions regarding favoritism in the UN and issues of 'bullying' of smaller unions by so-called superpowers arise. This is followed by a heated 1v1 between Russia and Ukraine.

DISEC

DISARMAMENT AND INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

A moderated caucus was introduced after the session began, whose slow pace got interrupted by a crisis. A third intifada began as the leader of Hamas was executed by the Israeli armed forces.

The Hamas declared an uprising in the middle of the session and delegates were forced to come up with a resolution. The delegates were divided in their loyalties between the states as they put forth their points.

After an unmoderated caucus, the resolution for the crisis was presented to the chair and passed with an overwhelming majority vote. The crisis was averted.

UNEGE

UNITED NATIONS ENTITY FOR GENDER EQUALITY

AGENDA: Ensuring equal access to physical and mental healthcare for individuals of all genders with special emphasis on reproductive rights

DIRECTOR: Anushka Desai

ASST. DIRECTOR: Anwasha Mishra

MODEATOR: Shwetha Sriram

REPORTERS: Samantha Paul, Shreyash Shrivastava

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Amaan, Prisha

Dr. Priti Prabhugate, the guest speaker for the committee conducted a very interactive session wherein she talked about the national family health survey which concluded that sundry girls in India are closing the education gap of primary education but more than 50% could not complete further studies.

The zenith of the elucidating session was the palaver on abortion. 73 million people still seek abortion and in India 67% of the abortions conducted are illegal. She enlightened the delegates by telling them how women cannot assert their independence as well as their rights.

The committee commenced with every country portraying their stance on their respective healthcare provisions. The crisis was proclaimed, a hospital in Saudi Arabia was demolished by assailants claiming to be government officials who publicly butchered a doctor and a patient. There was a clashing conflict between Saudi Arabia and USA, ramifying in a controversial statement made by Iraq stating that US is power quenching and is intending to go to any extent disregarding all ethical hindrances which was backed by Saudi Arabia.

The session culminated with the moderated caucus which accentuated the significance of mental health and sundry countries were in favor.

The second day of proceedings began with every country elaborating on their humanitarian rights with an emphasis on gender equality. It was stated by Brazil that their nation has equal pay rights which was contradicted by statistical data from the EB wherein they mentioned that Latina women are paid way less compared to the males in the country.

Subsequently, the committee moved into a moderated caucus to have a parliamentary discussion on abortion rights and gender equality. Eritrea stated that they recognize that the country is driven by its traditions and culture which is something the government is keeping in mind to make developments to abortion rights.

The session concluded with an unmoderated caucus with the aim of coming up with a draft resolution.

ECOSOC

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL

AGENDA: Prevention and Resolution of foreign exchange market/crisis due to the global events

DIRECTOR: Eesha Punjabi

ASST. DIRECTOR: Divya Venkeshwar

MODERATOR: Khwaish Agarwal

REPORTERS: Sara Jadhav, Avani Jagtap

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Mriganka, Namita

The Guest Speaker for ECOSOC was Mrs. Aparna Kulkarni, who briefed everyone about the 'Prevention of Foreign Exchange crisis'. She focused on India having multilateral trade and how the geopolitical scenarios like the Russia Ukraine war may affect it. Many crises were explained in detail like the Asian Financial Crisis which saw the fall of 'Asian Tigers', Argentine Crisis, and most importantly India's Forex Crisis. Crisis is like a hurricane - a spiral which keeps on occurring.

She concluded by saying that, "It's not about who is right or wrong but what is right or wrong."

The first committee session commenced with the GSL, where the delegates addressed the economic and social scenarios in their countries, followed by a moderated caucus where the delegates briefed about how the Russia-Ukraine war affected their economies. The delegates also suggested certain solutions to prevent the FOREX crisis. The second half of the session gave way to a heated 1V1 debate between India and Pakistan, with witty roasts and fiery accusations.

The second committee session of the day brought about many insightful discussions regarding sustainable and economic growth in various countries. The day's proceedings ended with a wholesome entertainment session having some cool confessions and a lot of dance.

ECOSOC

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL

The day 3 proceedings began by passing resolutions for sustainable development and economic growth. Soon the crisis was introduced by the U.S President Joe Biden, who went against the China-Russia alliance and announced the ‘digital dollar’.

All the countries came up with their own stance and ironically the US claimed to be the ‘ambassador of peace’. India took a neutral stance which made the delegate of Zambia say “Pretty Indian of you”.

Syria impressed everyone by stating that “the Dollar is just a way for the US to dominate the world. China was criticized for its contradicting statements.

AIPPM

ALL INDIA POLITICAL PARTIES MEET

AGENDA: Revisiting the concept of Sedition and Nationalism with special emphasis on Freedom of Speech and Expression

DIRECTOR: Sharanya Nair

ASST. DIRECTOR: Kirti Makhija

MODERATOR: Ruchi Shetty

REPORTERS: Saanvi Bhosale, Ojasvi Shahpurkar

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Ishna, Tanisha

“The guest speaker for AIPPM, Mr. Sahil Malhotra- a renowned advocate, endowed the delegates with very valuable information on the law of sedition. He specifically emphasized the history and ambiguity of sedition laws.

“The law of sedition has had a “chilling effect” over the people since the pre-colonial era and whether or not it is appropriate still remains in the hands of the law makers.”

The first session began with a glaring attack by Mehbooba Mufti according to whom the BJP was demolishing democracy in India. According to the BJP the sedition law of IPC Section 124-A should be replaced by a lighter alternative whereas, Congress was of the opinion that India should entirely do away with such a draconian law.

The committee commenced with both the BJP and Congress exchanging vistas and pointing out each other’s frailty.

AIPPM

ALL INDIA POLITICAL PARTIES MEET

The general speakers list was opened and the BJP-Congress altercations continued. Owasi pointed out that although amends had been made to the sedition law, it continued to be vague and ambiguous.

The discussions of the committee soon diverged from sedition and colonialism to religion and communalism. Both the parties divaricated from reformation of the law and rather aimed at defaming each other. The only time the digression of the committee was addressed, was to bash the other party.

The delegates formed blocs to tackle the newly emerged crisis on the JNU students' protests requesting for the beautification of Yakub Memon's grave and for his 'honorable mention'. The blocs engaged in a fiery debate, tearing at each other's faces, trying to prove their points.

COMMITTEE FOR REWRITING INDIA'S PAST

AGENDA: Analyzing and Rewriting the Partition of India following the Independence from the British Raj in 1947 after considering its reverberations

DIRECTOR: Dheer Kulkarni

ASST. DIRECTOR: Saurabh Verma

MODERATOR: Michelle Sequeira

REPORTERS: Jui Negandhi, Jaiee Shinde

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Mokasham, Saisha

The Guest Speaker, Mr. Arun Singh said, "I have been given this impossible task of talking about the Partition of India in 30 minutes" He came up with extremely interesting theories saying, "In politics, it is necessary to work with your enemies just to keep your nation as a whole." He later concluded by saying, "History actually dwells in 'what if' rather than 'what happened.'"

The 1st session commenced with a banger moderated caucus discussion on the topic of Communal hatred fostered by British in India which ultimately led to the partition of India. The 2nd session commenced with an extremely lively, interactive and captious 4v4.

Starting, for the argument we had Abul Kalam Azad beginning,
"I wanna ask how long the DDLJ is gonna go on for. Deceit us into thinking you are working in our interest. DENY us basic human rights.
LIE to get your way and separate us.
JUSTIFY arrests on baseless charges of sedition." "AZAADI!!"

CRIP

COMMITTEE FOR REWRITING INDIA'S PAST

The session started with the introduction of the communique and the cabinet ministers appointed by the British government. This was followed by engaging discussions on how the Britishers owe reparations to India and minorities should be equally represented in parliament.

These were midway interrupted by a crisis. The RSS had been proposed as an organization to handle the military which was met with rejection from a majority of members, with a continuous list of updates, including the RSS being banned and Nathuram Godse being shot dead by Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi as a form of self defense. The committee successfully passed a resolution which rewrote history to avoid the partition of India and retain AKHAND BHARAT.

CONTINUOUS CRISIS COMMITTEE

BASIC STORYLINE: US and China: The Struggle for Dominance

DIRECTOR: Mehak Nahata

ASST. DIRECTOR: Reuben David

MODERATOR: Niharika Pandey

REPORTERS: Khushi Mundra, Vidhi Bhanushli

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Jay, Sivanand

“This committee’s guest speaker, Ms. Shefali Ramasubramanian, provided a global perspective with respect to international relations, economies, policies, etc. as an influence of the US and China’s actions. She expressed strong opinions on climate change policies in the hands of these superpowers.

“Both countries have the power to bring about a change,” she said.

The committee commenced with the countries voicing their concerns regarding the US-China conflicts, which majorly affected smaller countries dependent on the two nations.

The first crisis was announced- Anderson Cooper, an American journalist visiting China regarding Uyghur genocide, had been put under house arrest indefinitely. Fingers were pointed in China’s direction for being Islamophobic. China defended itself by saying that no credible sources verified this claim.

After a typical blame game between US and China, a solution put forth by Joe Biden was passed. Anderson Cooper would be released and China had to publicly accept that it was Islamophobic.

CCC

CONTINUOUS CRISIS COMMITTEE

“NAM has announced that they would be eliminating India”- the first crisis of the day started with the delegates stating their stances on the Russia-Ukraine War. Delegates expressed their sympathy towards Ukraine and demanded that Russia should be held accountable for its actions.

Followed by a very ambiguous stance taken by India, the Delegate of Russia and India explored the hypothetical situation in which they would both cut ties with each other.

Russia called out India on its ambiguity and the fact that they remain only partially neutral, thus justifying the reason India had been eliminated from the NAM.

GLOBAL CONVENTION FOR OUTER SPACE ETHICS

AGENDA: To reach an agreement regarding appropriate space exploration and innovation-related practices with reference to the recent attempts at privatization of space

DIRECTOR: Kashvi Kandarthanda

ASST. DIRECTOR: Ipsita Nath

MODERATOR: Harsh Chandwani

REPORTERS: Shreya Shinde, Anushka Deolekar

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Adira, Tanya

Mr. Tushar Jadhav, an aerospace engineer, was the guest speaker for GCOSE. He speculated about the gravity that space holds in the future on a global level, the use of satellites in defense mechanisms, mass telecommunication, study of different planets and their suitability for the sustenance of human civilization. He also ventilated the various problems faced due to use of satellites such as hacking, invasion of privacy and use of high-end technology. In conclusion, he spoke about the international space treaty which forms the basis of space law.

GCOSE had a powerful discussion on various topics, starting with the Russian official who questioned the rights enjoyed by the US on property-ownership on Moon, followed by the official requesting clarification on the US decisions.

With the US and China at each other's throats, the US official condemned the past actions of China and Russia. The Swiss added to this by debating with Russia about the destroyed satellites.

— GCOSE —

GLOBAL CONVENTION FOR OUTER SPACE ETHICS

A satellite of SpaceX had exploded and the country was unknown. The second day started off with the introduction of this crisis. All the countries, including the ones affected by this crisis, continued to blame Russia for the destruction. Questions were raised on the unethical practices and several claims were made, which helped the delegate of the USA to corner the delegate of Russia.

The delegates tried to take down the delegates of Russia and China. China, however, argued that Elon Musk was guilty of defending himself and Russia. All delegates were blamed to be puppets of the USA, while Russia tried to defend itself by acting as the victim in the entire situation.

FAST LAUGHS: JUST SOME MUN SCENES TO LEAVE YOU IN SPLITS

ROASTS OF THE DAY

“No wonder the Sun never sets on the British empire, even GOD wouldn’t trust the English in the dark.”

- Abul Kalam Azad, CRIP

Sudan said that this is not a security council for bringing up the points of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Pakistan countered saying, “This is not a story telling council as well!”

-ECOSOC

The Delegate of Canada spoke for most countries stuck between US and China in this struggle for dominance when he compared US-Canada relations to “a broken marriage where divorce is not an option.”

- CCC

REALLY !!!??

The session apparently got too boring for the delegate of Belarus who got caught reading The Tempest.

A CANDESCENT CLOSURE

The culmination of an exhilarating sequence of events dawned as the 7th edition of International Singhania MUN inched towards its end with the commencing of the most anticipated closing ceremony. The program was initiated with the embracing speech that welcomed the audience. The eagerly awaited results and the felicitation of participants was truly the highlight of the session.

Our acclaimed Director of Education and Principal, Mrs. Revathi Srinivasan, present in absentia, enlightened the audience with illuminating words of insight and invigoration through her message, “Dear delegates and faculty, at the end of these 3 days of ISMUN I am sure each one of you would be regretting that it is all getting over and the curtains have to fall down, that they say all good things also come to an end and for the next new and good thing to happen I wish all the students the very best. It has been a great learning experience and that you have been able to express yourselves on issues that you are very close to. Good luck to each one of you and we look forward to having you all again next year for our ISMUN. To all the faculty and organizing committee, I would just like to say thank you and congratulations for a beautiful event, so well set and very well planned. To each one of you wishing you all the very best.”

Mr. Narasimha Iyer, the ISMUN teacher in-charge, in his address to the delegates appreciated their efforts and underscored to them that the agendas discussed by them would help them positively in future. In progression, there were numerous captivating performances. They were ushered in by the fellow Sulongians of grade 11th and 12th. Rapturing solos and duets were also orchestrated that enchanted everyone present in the opulent Malhar Hall. The events were accompanied by ‘midvibe’ and a live band that played such melodious harmony that each present in the audience chanted the songs in unison. The enthralling experience terminated with the enriching and inspiring words of the secretary general who proclaimed the 7th edition of ISMUN officially closed.
